The Transport Prisoner Containment Facility (TPCF) is a one person, portable Jail Cell and is designed to securely restrain, isolate, and control an individual under legal apprehension. This is an ideal product for civilian law enforcement or military police who may need to detain people without being able to leave their post or the premises. For example, civilian police could setup the TPCF at Fairs, Concerts, Shows, or any public event, in order to detain the rowdier elements or even as a deterrent to potential troublemakers. While military police can utilize the TPCF as a mobile POW transport or to temporarily hold prisoners until arrangements are made for their permanent incarceration.

The TPCF is an all aluminum welded system that can be configured in any shape or size. The aluminum is weather resistant and will provide years of long lasting, durable use. Each panel and part are interchangeable allowing the officer to position everything in the most convenient configuration. NO special tools are necessary for assembly and all parts are supplied. The TPCF is easily erected by 2 - 4 men and can be accomplished in approximately one hour.

Many options are available and can be ordered separately. A 463L pallet will hold 4 complete 8' x 8' standard cells. Jail cells can be set in several different configurations.
